“Family is the primary institution responsible for shaping the growth of our future generation.”

The Parents and the School – Together in the mission for a future-ready generation!

Children possess immense potential. And society can either foster this potential or suppress it. In this article, I want to address the role of the most influential people in a child's life – ‘Parents’, and how their attitude can either make or mar a child's future.

During our last vacation, I met a parent who regularly expressed his disapproval towards reading books and shared the futility of telling stories. He casually remarked that he has no experience in the art of storytelling, as he was never told any and hence does not make an effort to tell stories to his child. I realized how lucky I am that my grandfather narrated stories during vacations — stories from the Mahabharata, the Panchtantra, historical episodes, and so on. My grandparents' stories were the backbone of my childhood.

I do not have great memories of my school, as all the teachers were judgemental about my performance. I had nowhere to go and express because those days, parents never questioned the teachers. Now when I look back, I realize that this is what made me tough.

An incident that occurred in my Grade XI made a 360-degree change in my attitude and my confidence. Our History teacher, during his lecture, asked a question related to the Chola Dynasty, and I knew the answer through the stories narrated by my grandfather. My lecturer was extremely happy to note this and showered me with a lot of praises. For the first time in my life, I felt valued, and my life changed forever. I felt like new energy had crept into me. And then, nothing could stop me!

Indeed, the credit for this goes to my grandparents for narrating those wonderful stories to me. However, a thought comes to my mind - why is it that we think that only grandparents need to tell stories? Why are parents not accountable to spare a few minutes of their time to share life experiences, episodes from their childhood and other folklore?

Yes, dear parents, I wish to address this critical aspect of child-rearing as it has had an immense impact on my life. Every difficulty or challenge in my life or at my workplace can be related to some tale that I heard in my childhood.

Today, parents feel that they can outsource everything by paying money to ‘experts’. But the time they spend with their children by talking to them and the bond that it creates, cannot be monetized. Not to mention, the added rewards of encouraging your wards' decision making, reasoning, questioning, critical thinking, problem-solving, etc. School is an institution which prepares the students for life. Family is the primary institution, and the lessons they learn through family members are incomparable. The school will do its part of making your child capable. I seek the cooperation of parents in being actively involved in your child's progress too. Together, we can do wonders and make our children future-ready.

A Vision for the New Millennium

Neelam Malik, Director, AryaGlobal is a dedicated leader and has been recently awarded "Extraordinary Contribution in Education Leadership."

Greetings and welcome to the new Millennium! 2019 was an immensely gratifying year. We received the ISO- 9001:2015 certificate and are now surging ahead equipped with sound knowledge, a dedicated team and relevant use of technology in all our centres.

Dr APJ Abdul Kalam and Y.S Rajan, in their book, India 2020: A Vision for the New Millennium, provide a grand vision for India. They speak about our technological prowess, our sound knowledge of culture and philosophy, coupled with our ample geographical advantages and how India can be among the top five economic powers. The gist of it is to make suitable an optimum use of our resources and to garner the power of the youth to make further advances and greater successes.

It is my sincere hope that more and more students and parents read the book or at least excerpts from the book. “The Song of Youth” which Dr Kalam and V Ponraj have written will tug at your heartstrings and inspire you. It is sure to make the youth break barriers and achieve their full potential. Just imagine a nation full of young, ignited minds that do not settle for anything less than the Best!

India is a powerhouse of sound technological knowledge. This year, Little Aryans strives to introduce advanced use of technology in all its centres and to make our centres paperless. We are exploring various technological platforms for seamless communication and smooth functioning of our backend staff which in effect will help communicate with our parents and within our centres.

With this vision, I look forward to a new and exciting Millennium ahead and look to you for support to build a sound foundation for our dear Children!

A Message from Gurudev

"When you have fixed your goal, to get distinction in your final exam, you must also be heroic enough to put forth the required energy sincerely and continuously to climb up to your goal and snatch away your victory. Pray daily: Surrender your fears and idleness at His Feet, and Draw courage and a firm faith in yourself from His Altar."

- Swami Chinmayananda

“Teachers and parents act as motivators and nurture their children.”
- A Dialogue with Neeta Singh

1. What kind of a person are you? Please describe yourself.

I am a strong person, able to handle multiple tasks daily. I'm passionate about my work, a highly organized natural leader, results-oriented, flexible, honest and hardworking. Besides, I am always eager to learn new skills, committed as well as compassionate.

2. Who is your inspiration? How do you motivate the children?

I have been inspired by my school teachers to pursue my career. A teacher encourages every individual in many ways. I have a passion for teaching and a love for being in the classroom. A teacher helps students become critical and creative thinkers as well as lifelong learners. A teacher can make an average student become an overachiever, can make a gifted student push beyond even the highest expectations. So, this love of teaching today's youth to be productive and well-respected citizens have also inspired me a lot.

3. What is your teaching philosophy?

All students are unique and have specific learning needs and styles. Students learn best when they feel welcomed, comfortable and safe. Hence, I believe that both teaching and learning have a significant impact on the classroom environment. I desire to create this type of atmosphere where students can meet their full potential. All students deserve caring and compassionate teachers who are considerate of their diverse needs while equitably holding them to high expectations.

4. According to you, what should be the role of parents in their child's upbringing?

Teachers and parents act as motivators and nurture their children. They prepare them for a bright career and face the challenges of the future. Parents play an essential role in the overall development of their child. Right guidance of parents develop the character of the child. It also helps the child accept the failure and overcoming them, understanding discipline, receiving feedback and the awards.

5. “An emotional connect between the child and the teacher is very pivotal” -Comment.

Today, what children need is someone who understands their feelings and emotions, guides them and does not judge them in any way. With little efforts and sensitivity towards a student's emotional needs, the teacher can develop children of tomorrow with a positive outlook towards life. Such relationships make a positive and everlasting impact on a student's mind and protect him from the effects of stress.

6. According to you, how do the students perceive their teachers?

Students always look for a patient, caring and kind person in their teacher. But apart from these, they also want qualities like a sense of humour, flexibility, experience, in-depth knowledge and passion for their subject matter and the ability to build a caring relationship with students.

7. How do you make your lectures more interactive?

I emphasize my objective and critical points and then share the outline with students. I know that learning is successful when the interaction takes place in class discussions. So, to make my lectures impactful, I encourage conversation, create practical examples, allow my students to ask questions and respond.

8. Share any particular incident wherein you helped a child to bring about a change.

“Teaching is a way of life, not just a profession.” My motivation to my few ex-students to go for medical entrance exams like CET and NEET helped them realize their potential and to crack the exam. These students are completing their medical studies from very prestigious medical colleges of Maharashtra.

9. Where do you look at yourself five years from now?

“None can destroy iron, but its rust can. Likewise, none can destroy a person, but his mindset can.” I look at myself after five years from now as a positive and emotionally powerful person who will have a motivational influence in someone else's life. A firm and determined leader, a good strategist, confident, an active listener, flexible and enthusiastic person.

10. Arya Gurukul for you is...

Arya Gurukul for me is not just a workplace but also a platform to showcase my calibre and skills which have benefitted the students. Moreover, it's a family for me where I have formed a solid relationship with the institution.

“Khel Mela... Serious Sports The fun way”... 2019-20

“The five S’s of sports training are stamina, speed, strength, skill and spirit; but the greatest of these is spirit.”

Your Future Depends On Your Aspirations

One's aspirations work as a compass and fuel in providing direction and the forward-push in one's life. Goals and aspirations keep one focused, not allowing them to waste their time, resources, and energy on trivialities. On the other hand, a man or woman without aspirations is prone to distractions and cannot achieve much in life. All great achievers in the history of mankind have been people who always kept their focus on their aspirations. People like Lincoln, Helen Keller, Einstein, Swami Vivekananda, Dr Abdul Kalam, and many more like them had grand ambitions that gave them the impetus to do great things in life. The universal law of attraction gets activated when we keep our focus on our goals and aspirations. We attract new opportunities and people who further push us forward in the direction of realizing our goals and expectations.

One's aspirations can predict one's future. A successful man has aspirations, but an ordinary man has none. A life without them is directionless. My future depends on my career and the goals that I have set.

Without goals and aspirations, we wouldn't know what to work for, to strive for or to try and make a mark on this world. Success is much more than riches, power or fame. It is the feeling of satisfaction and happiness one gets from leading a particular way of life. Success in any field or aspect of life can only be achieved through diligent hard work and a little bit of opportunity. It is necessary never to give up until the aim of happiness and satisfaction in life is fully met. Individual and significant others' conscious and unconscious engagement in judgements regarding the feasibility of aspirations is pivotal in the development of capabilities. "Individual aspirations are born in a social context; they do not exist in a vacuum". Some aspirations are mutually exclusive and do not affect anyone other than the aspirers, but many others are mutually dependent or contrary to one another. These latter aspirations give cause to think further on how societies resolve which aspirations to support individuals and groups in pursuing a family, institutional, local, national and international levels.

Committees, community groups and democratically elected political representatives invoke different methods for determining policy concerning public aspirations, including those of majority and minority groups. The decision maker's position and role are significant. Position refers here to title and function, for example as a teacher, parent, chief executive, politician. Role refers here to the manner adopted by the individual to carry out the positional duties. Thus, different individuals may judge different aspirations, and in turn, various combinations of functioning, as more or less appropriate.

One of the lessons that I grew up with was to always stay true to yourself and never let what somebody else says distract you from your goals. When I hear about negative and false attacks, I don't invest any energy in them, because I know who I am.

Full Of Adrenaline!

In consonance with a substantial change in the psychology of modern India, mainly teens, the demand for recreational and adventurous sports have increased.

Instead of spending a holiday or leisure time relaxing at home, in a resort or on beaches, people now prefer to discover the adventurous streak in them to refresh themselves.

The increasing number of young children from India heading abroad to take part in adventure activities confirm this fact. This boom in demand for adventurous sports make a positive impact on the children's mind.

India is a veritable house for adventurers. Schools in India introducing these types of fun sports benefit them both, in academics and physical fitness. Horse riding, mountaineering, skiing and many, many more sports are popular in India. The demand for these adventurous sports have doubled over the last decade.

Apart from recreational benefits, there are a lot of economic gains attached to the boom in this industry. Therefore Indian schools should develop more and more adventure sports facilities so that children can benefit from them and expand their mind and get over their addictions.

Instilling Principles

Life without value education is like a ship without a rudder. Values work as a guidance system and help us reach our destination. Education without values or edification will fall short of achieving its goal. Mere teaching, learning, improving knowledge and skills may not contribute to the holistic development of children, without building character and mind. It is a must for the world to become a better place.

The need of the hour is to impart value-based education. The youngsters need not only be taught how to develop their skills, talents and abilities; they must also be taught how to use these for the welfare and betterment of all. Once values become everyone's priority in life, all the negative aspects will vanish. The world needs people with ethical values to make it a better place to live.

Moulding Clay: An Eco-Friendly Effort

Kalyan: The sun beholds the bliss of the happiness that evolves in young minds. With dawn marking a start to a beautiful morning, people seemed all set to welcome our Lord Ganesha for a wondrous event coming forth. These people were none other than the little hearts belonging to Arya Gurukul. The event brought around a hundred students all set for carving something beautiful. The equipment was all ready. Students were first introduced to their workshop instructor who explained and demonstrated the rules to be followed while making the idol. Out of all the equipment that was used to make the clay idol, the most important one remained the soil and not POP, that's what made this creation a real success. Children mould their lives with all the love they could include in that little deeds of theirs. Let this love stay pure and untouched because some things are beautiful when they lack perfection. Children may not be able to make big and majestic idols of Lord Ganesha, but the smiles they wore were big enough to behold. The programme and this great fest concluded with smiles and happiness in each participant's heart. All of them had a great time. The motto and importance of eco-friendly idols of Lord Ganesha were etched forever on our young hearts. A life lesson which we can only learn at our school, Arya Gurukul.

The Plea of the Planet

India is known for its rich flora and fauna, beautiful landscapes, glorious past and different cultural trends. All these make India a major attraction for tourism. But this rate is decreasing day by day, and we need to save our environment. Poor waste management, growing water scarcity, biodiversity loss, are some of the problems faced by the environment. We are undeterred about waste management and think that most of the garbage cannot be recycled. But according to the study of daily dump, 60% of waste which we throw away, need not go out. Also, we are unsophisticated about controlling water usage and about biodiversity. But our government has also initiated some steps. They are using landfills to bury the garbage. They are also sending water tankers to many places and also modified the biodiversity saving laws. However, these laws are not useful, till we use them in our daily life. "THE GREATEST THREAT TO OUR PLANET IS THE BELIEF THAT SOMEONE ELSE WILL SAVE IT."

धरती

तुम हो सबकी जन्म भूमि,
तुम्हारे बिना कोई जिंदा नहीं,
हमें पालपोसकर बड़ा करती हो |

माँ के जितना उच्च स्थान है तुम्हारा,
तुमसे बड़ा न कोई सहारा
तुमपे रोज़ जिते हैं हम,
जितना कहो, उतना है कम |

पुरे भ्रमण्ड में तुम्हारे जैसा कोई नहीं,
पुरे संसार में तुमसे सुंदर कोई नहीं,
सब कुछ दे देती हो,
लेकिन बदले में कुछ नहीं लेती हो |

हर मुसिवत से बचाती हो,
हर एक बार सह लेती हो,
कभीकभी हम इन्सान इतने लापरवाह हो जाते हैं,
कि तुम्हें कष्ट देने लग जाते हैं |

खुदरत का करिश्मा

प्रकृति का चित्र देखो मेरे मन में समाया,
यह सुंदरता मेरे रोमरोम को महकाया |
खुदरत का करिश्मा देखो हमने है पाया,
यह है एक रासलीला जो भगवान ने है रचाया |
सूरज चाचू की इस तड़पती धूप में पेड़ों ने दिया साया ॥

हवा की महकती खुशबु से चिड़िया ने है गाया,
मोर नाच रहे हैं देखो कैसा मौसम यहा छाया |
हवा के तेजी से बादलों ने देखो विजली है गरजाया,
बादलों के इस कुश्ती के खेल ने वारिश को बरसाया |
घर घर में लोगों ने गरमा गरम पकौड़ा है बनाया ॥

ठंडी में देखो काँप रही है मेरी काया,
वात वात में करते देखो थंडी का मौसम है आया |
स्वेटर का जमाना देखो भगवान ने है लाया,
मौसम ने सबको रंगीन स्वेटर है दिलाया |
जाते ही रिश्तेदारों ने गरमा गरम चाय है पिलाया ॥

ठंड गई और यहाँ देखो बच्चों ने है चिल्लाया,
वसंत के मौसम में देखो फूल दिख आया,
जगह जगह दुकानों में रंगीन फूल दिख आया,
जो देखो के बच्चों ने अपने माँ को बहालाया |
देखो ये भारत हमारा यहाँ खुदरत की कैसी मोहमाया ॥

A dialogue with Annette Sequeira, Primary Coordinator

1. Describe your typical workday. How do you maintain a balance between your family life and work-life?

I have a busy schedule being the Primary Coordinator. I begin my day at work with a grade-wise assembly, felicitations of students, addressing them etc. Monitoring classrooms, teacher's lesson observations, meeting parents, conducting meetings for teachers and a lot of things related to academics. I maintain a balance between family and work-life by mainly prioritizing time with four categories: Urgent and important, Important but not urgent, Urgent but not important and Neither important nor urgent. I tend to focus on my strengths and outsource others. Keeping some personal time and space is essential.

2. Planning is important for any organization. How do you see yourself as a planner?

Planning is crucial to me. I plan my schedules on a daily and weekly basis. My daily work turns out smoothly in this manner. I am prepared to take any tasks that may come unannounced.

3. What are your strengths?

My strengths lie in my creative thinking, discipline, organization, determination, dedication and enthusiasm, prioritizing my tasks, punctuality and ability to learn from mistakes.

4. How would you describe your leadership style? What do you do to empower teachers to be the leaders?

I follow a working system which has produced excellent results. I like to lead by example by taking action, demonstrating and keeping my team organized. I facilitate open communication and try to bring out the best in every team member. I also lead by delegating and finding the strengths of my teammates. I believe in being fair to all and no favouritism. For empowering teachers, I create an enthusiastic workplace ambience and opportunities with clear expectations. I am always on the lookout for leadership skills among teammates and delegate responsibilities as per one's calibre.

5. What is your vision for your school?

We, at Arya Gurukul, believe and strive to facilitate and help our children grow up to be active, curious, responsible, disciplined and independent thinking individuals.

6. What advice would you give to a new teacher on his / her first year?

At Arya Gurukul, I lead the Primary Section. My priority lies with the safety and security of our students. They should not be left unattended at any given situation. The profession of a teacher calls for passion, dedication, enthusiasm and integrity.

7. How do you communicate with the parents of the Challenging Students?

My heart goes to both the student and the parents. I open up communication and meet parents before a situation arises. I hold onto a positive approach in my interaction with them. I educate, guide and advise them as per our school norms. I communicate and update their child's strengths, weaknesses and struggles.

8. Who is your role model?

Well, I don't have a particular person who has inspired me because everyone is good at something. So, whenever I observe some good qualities, I imbibe those. Mostly my role models have been my superiors at my workplace from the past as well as the present.

9. What words of wisdom would you like the youngsters always to follow?

"Good things come to those who wait, but better things come to those who go out and get them."

10. Arya Gurukul for you is...

Arya Gurukul, for me, is my extended family, my second home.
Thank you.
